

SALE SHOPPING WITH PANDORA SYKES

29px

What The Sunday Times Style's Wardrobe Mistress would pick

40px

In times of sartorial strife we often find ourselves thinking: what would Pandora Sykes do? Because the newly married fashion journalist and stylist's enviable outfits at Fashion Week have skyrocketed her to streetstyle star status, and if her Instagram feed is anything to go by, Sykes really is that stylish every day. Thankfully she's also well versed in doling out fashion advice as The Sunday Times Style's witty Wardrobe Mistress and on her website www.pandorasykes.com. So we asked her to select and style her favourite pieces from our SS16 sale. Watch and learn.

94px

A.W.A.K.E
Blue Gingham Cotton Frill Dress

62px

AWAKE

There are 2 reasons I love AWAKE: firstly, because the acronym stands for All Wonderful Adventures Kindle Enthusiasm (how can you not love a label named that?) and secondly, because the silhouette is so unexpected. Who'd have thought a gingham midi dress could be so directional? The one arm in, one arm out thing is going to throw some people, which only makes me want to wear it more. The ruffle will tempt them all back anyway. Wear to summer parties for ever and ever, Amen.

SALE SHOPPING WITH PANDORA SYKES

29px

What The Sunday Times Style’s Wardrobe Mistress would pick

40px

In times of sartorial strife we often find ourselves thinking: what would Pandora Sykes do? Because the newly married fashion journalist and stylist’s enviable outfits at Fashion Week have skyrocketed her to streetstyle star status, and if her Instagram feed is anything to go by, Sykes really is that stylish every day. Thankfully she’s also well versed in doling out fashion advice as The Sunday Times Style’s witty Wardrobe Mistress and on her website www.pandorasykes.com. So we asked her to select and style her favourite pieces from our SS16 sale. Watch and learn.

94px

ROSETTA GETTY Terracotta Tie-Front Wrap Dress

62px

Rosetta Getty

I stopped wondering why Rosetta Getty was pricey the moment I put this dress on: the draping. Oh, the DRAPING! Getty knows what she is doing. I also love the terracotta colour. I’d never gravitate towards a dress like this, but it looks amazing next to gold. And it flares quite wonderfully when you walk. Also works with a white t-shirt underneath, if you love it too much to save it for smart occasions.

SALE SHOPPING WITH PANDORA SYKES

What The Sunday Times Style's Wardrobe Mistress would pick

In times of sartorial strife we often find ourselves thinking: what would Pandora Sykes do? Because the newly married fashion journalist and stylist's enviable outfits at Fashion Week have skyrocketed her to streetstyle star status, and if her Instagram feed is anything to go by, Sykes really is that stylish every day. Thankfully she's also well versed in doling out fashion advice as The Sunday Times Style's witty Wardrobe Mistress and on her website www.pandorasykes.com. So we asked her to select and style her favourite pieces from our SS16 sale. Watch and learn.

COURREGES
Red Bicolour Cap Sleeve Dress
RACHEL COMEY
White Leather Block Heel Shoes

Courreges

Put your hand up if you're excited that Courrèges is back. This dress is actually entirely leather - which I didn't realise until I had it in my hot little hand - so you could feasibly wear it in winter, too, with a poloneck underneath. Which makes it a year-round dress, something I'm always a fan of. I love the bright colours; so 60s when worn with white shoes and ginormous earrings.